

Introduction to Interior Design

Interior Environment

space one lives, works and plays in each day

Interior Design

planning, designing and supervising the execution of architectural interiors and their furnishings

Interior Designer

licensed person who practices interior design

Programming

profiling clients and learning their needs, requirements and wants

Feng Shui

design concept of Asian decent

Conceptual Design Phase

using gathered information to create an illustrated design

Punch List

final observation of the completed design to ensure a standard was met

Standard

a quality level finishes and furnishings must meet to be finalized

Floor Plan

scaled, illustrated representation of a room or building

Traffic Flow

natural path of movement through a room

Furnishings

items placed to enhance a particular room

Lighting

various types of fixtures or sources of light